

Assessment “Thinks” for Teachers

What would be the most useful data (bits of info) to help you improve learning in your class room?

What do your pupils keep getting wrong? How could you reteach this to them differently (Feel free to phone a friend)

How could you best find out what your pupils don't know/can't do but need to know/do? At the beginning, during and at the end of the topic?

Imagine individual pupils didn't know/couldn't do different thing in your class. What would you do to address these different gaps in learning?
